

Soon you will be talking with a career adviser in school to discuss your options post Year 11 and beyond.

To make the most of this opportunity you may like to consider the following questions in preparation. Don't worry if you can't answer all the questions.

Do you know what you want to do in the future? Do you already have a career in mind?
Do you know what you want to do after Year 11?
What do you know about sixth form, college and apprenticeships?
What do you know about the different qualifications available after year 11?
How are you getting on in school?
What subjects do you enjoy and do well in?
What subjects do you not enjoy and not do so well in?
Do you have any hobbies, extra-curricular activities or responsibilities other than school?
What are you planning to do for work experience? Have you thought about what you hope to get out of the experience?
Where do members of your family work? Do their roles interest you? Why/ why not?
Do you know how to research ideas for after year 11 and apply?
When do you think you need to make a decision by and apply?
What would you like to use your career interview to discuss?
